Travel assistance

Some reimbursement for travel costs associated with attending the conference may be available as a result of financial support from AFOSR, DARPA and ONR. Funds are not available in advance, so registration and travel fees are the responsibility of the attendee prior to reimbursement. The distribution of funds will depend on the number of requests and eligibility. Student support will be given the highest priority to encourage student attendance. If you are notified that support is available, you will have to submit receipts for federally approved travel costs. Some funds are designated for US students and proof of citizenship will be required.

Please check the appropriate areas below – even if you are not requesting travel cost assistance.
